

CHAPTER 44. ADULT, CONTINUING AND COMMUNITY EDUCATION

SUBCHAPTER 1. ADULT VOCATIONAL TECHNICAL EDUCATION

6:44-1.1 Administration and organization

The Division of Vocational Education is the agency responsible for conducting programs for adults requiring education in vocational technical areas.

SUBCHAPTERS 2 THROUGH 4. (RESERVED)

SUBCHAPTER 5. CIVIL DEFENSE EDUCATION

6:44-5.1 Program purposes

(a) Radiological Monitor Training (RAMONT).

To conduct training which will provide selected personnel with the essential skills and information necessary for them to carry out assigned radiological monitoring responsibilities.

(b) Personal and Family Survival (PFS).

To conduct an education program for selected organized groups who need to know more about civil defense preparedness. Specifically this is a course in civil defense which alerts these groups to the need for civil defense, develops among them a knowledge and understanding of the basic principles and practices of civil defense, provides them with experience in personal and community survival planning, and contributes to the support and development of local and State civil defense programs.

(c) Advice and guidance to school systems.

To provide advice and guidance to local school officials on incorporating civil defense concepts and principles into their school systems.

SUBCHAPTER 5. CIVIL DEFENSE EDUCATION

6:44-5.2 State staff

(a) Fully qualified educators, as part of the professional staff, to develop within the adult education area both the Radiological Monitor Training (RAMONT) and the Personal and Family Survival (PFS) Programs.

(b) Training in:

1. Basic technical civil defense training at the Office of Civil Defense Staff College at Battle Creek, Michigan.

2. Civil Defense Education administration and instructional methods by the U.S. Office of Education, Civil Defense Education Staff.

3. Training in State Civil Defense matters by the State Civil Defense Agency.

4. Other training as may be prescribed by United States Office of Education.

6:44-5.3 Course operation

(a) Subject matter specified by the Office of Civil Defense and the United States Office of Education will be included in the PFS course. The basic text for PFS will be Personal and Family Survival, SM-3-11. The student manual, the teacher's manual, the supplementary references, and the films, slides and other visuals provided through the United States Office of Education, which cover the required course content, will be used as the basic course materials. They will be supplemented by materials covering subject matter related to the State and local civil defense programs and needs as provided or approved by State and local civil defense agencies. The civil defense education coordinator will be responsible for organization and content of PFS courses.

(b) The length of local PFS courses will normally be 12 clock hours. A shorter course to meet the needs of special groups may be conducted, but in no instance may be less than eight hours.

6:44-5.4 Teachers

Training of local PFS teachers shall be conducted at appropriate locations around the State by State Civil Defense Education staff members and other approved individuals who have completed the prescribed course at the Office of Civil Defense Staff College, Battle Creek, Michigan. The course for local teachers shall be for a period of not less than 15 clock hours. No compensation will be made for teachers for attending this course.

6:44-5.5 Supervision

(a) The civil defense education coordinator will observe the quality of instruction.

(b) The civil defense education coordinator will make the latest information on national civil defense policies and operations available to RAMONT, and PFS instructors.

(c) The civil defense education coordinator will encourage instructors to participate in civil defense activities to maintain close liaison with local civil defense officials.